The first ever Milton Keynes International Festival will present an ambitious international artistic programme – the highlight of which is planned to be the UK Premiere of ‘inStallation’, a spectacular Swiss production presented in a 600 seat capacity chapiteau.

inStallation is a very special kind of interdisciplinary performance theatre where dance, artistry, music and equestrian dressage join with virtuosity and poetic verve. A circus ring with sawdust, baroque chandeliers and a concert grand piano are the only real props in a space in which a very special universe unfolds. It becomes the meeting place for the physical performers, either on a tightrope, on the dance floor or high up in the air, alone, in a pas de deux, in a group, or in dialogue with horses. Each scene heralds a new visual, artistic and musical world – each in its own way, and yet an integral part of what in the course of the performance merges to become a homogeneous kaleidoscope of sensual impressions.

In 2008 inStallation was invited to the Theatre de Vidy in Lausanne which led to a tour of Northern France in Autumn 2009 and subsequently to this year’s participation at IF Milton Keynes International Festival.
